

GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE SAN FRANCISCO FIGHT TRUST

SCANTILY ATTIRED. HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS CHASED BY BAD MAN

These Pretty Maids, Attired in Their Nighties, Are Scared
Nearly to Death at 1 a. m.

Policeman Murphy of the "dog watch" in the Lakeside district was called into the lower flat at 1364 Franklin street, at 2:30 o'clock this morning to arrest W. S. Madden, accused by Miss Gertrude Bell, a High School student, of disturbing her peace. Madden, who is a brother of Mrs. Dr. Madden, an osteopath, connected with a local hospital submitted to arrest and was escorted to the city jail. An hour previous to his arrest the flat at 1364 Franklin street was thrown into turmoil, causing neighbors to crane their heads out of windows. Screams of young women led many persons to believe that burglars were about. With the flat, however, it appears that it was more closely resembled a "miss Gertrude Bell" than anything else. Miss Gertrude Bell and two girl companions, one of them a niece of W. S. Madden, were in a highly excited state owing, as they stated to Policeman Murphy, to the unwarranted intrusion of Madden at such a late, or rather early hour.

FLEE FROM MADDEN.
The girls asserted that they had been sitting up engaged in study of their lessons. Madden ungallantly claimed that they had been entertaining a young bookkeeper employed by the Traction Company, and had destroyed the numbers of Madden with loud and tumultuous laughter and stories which he said he would be ashamed to repeat. However, it was admitted all around that for a while the trio of High School maidens were flying from room to room and making the halls ring with their past-midnight screams, while Madden was in pursuit of the scantily clothed maids. So the policeman charged Madden off to the bastille, where he is awaiting sentence tomorrow. He having this morning pleaded guilty before Police Judge Samuels to the charge of disturbing the peace of Miss Gertrude Bell.

At the flat 1364 Franklin street, today the inmates expressed very little knowledge of the "doings" of the early hours when the girls were so rudely interrupted in their studies by Madden. Mrs. Madden, mother of the intruder, is absent from the city, and his sister being at a local hospital when the incident of the early morning hours occurred, knew only by hearsay very little and declined to repeat what had been told her.

KNEW VERY LITTLE.

"Miss Bell is not here," said the young woman who receives callers at the flat, "and I suppose that she is at the High School. She will be at home, I presume, about 4 o'clock this afternoon. I don't know what happened here this morning, only by hearsay, and that is very little."

At the High School, Principal Pond, after inquiry, stated that Miss Gertrude Bell had not attended her classes up to 11:30 o'clock. Perhaps she was studying to make up for time lost when Madden interrupted her, or maybe the shock caused by the disturbance at 2 o'clock in the morning had caused the young woman to remain out of school for the day. At all events she was not to be found at her usual haunts, and if secluded at her lodgings was inaccessible.

W. S. Madden, the after-midnight disturber of the High School students, told a TRIBUNE reporter that he had come to the flat because he did not wish to leave innocent persons in the house at 1364 Franklin street compelled to appear in the Police court as witnesses. Madden's explanation of the cause of his arrest follows:

"I had gone to bed about 10 o'clock and for more than three hours was kept awake by the loud talk and laughter of the girls and a young man they were entertaining. I feared that their noise might also disturb Major Edwin Sherman and wife who occupy the upper flat. I arose, dressed myself, and about 1:30 went to the room where the loud noise was going on. As I opened the door the girls flew into their bedroom. I turned the doorknob and asked 'Is that young man here, yet?' My niece, who is apparently in love with the young man, (I don't know his name), became angry and said she would have me arrested. I went back to bed and an hour later they called a policeman in and I was taken to prison. I should not have pleaded guilty except to save my mother and sister from the notoriety of the affair."

Madden will be sentenced tomorrow morning by Judge Samuels and will then know how much it costs to interrupt High School girls when at their studies at 1:30 a. m.

Poor Irish Girl to Get Big Fortune

LONDON, June 17.—An Irish girl, a servant in a London suburb, has discovered herself an heiress. Her name is Annie Brennan and she hails from the lakes of Killarney. Her aunt, Mrs. Mary Clark, now a widow, emigrated to America during the Irish famine of 1847-8, and after periods of domestic service in New York and Philadelphia, she went west to San Francisco, where she married. Her husband's investments left her mistress of something approaching a quarter of a million dollars, consisting of cash and securities in railroads and real estate.

For twenty years she has been endeavoring to trace the girl who is now to succeed to her fortune. She has written to her niece that she is coming over to the Irish exhibition and has given instructions that the girl must be prepared to return with her to San Francisco after they have toured Ireland and paid a visit to Paris.

Mrs. Brennan is now about 30 years old and has worked hard as a domestic in London in the last ten years.

John Trimingham Appears Before the Supervisors to Protest Against License of W. J. Hughes.

John Trimingham, the young chivalrous knight who has undertaken to wipe the liquor traffic out of the prettily little town of Sunol, in order to win the hand of his "lady fair" (whose heart he believes he already possesses), as the mother of the maiden has stipulated, this performance as a condition of securing parental consent. Give another illustration this morning of his earnestness in his pursuit of love and happiness, by filing a protest with the board of supervisors against the granting of a liquor license to W. J. Hughes. The protest is based on the ground that his application is not signed by six of the nearest qualified residents to his place of business.

SANTA FE PASSENGER TRAIN IS WRECKED

Spreading Rails the Cause; One Man Is Killed and Scores of People Injured.

TRINIDAD, Colo., June 17.—East-bound passenger train No. 8 on the Santa Fe railway was wrecked shortly before noon today near Earl, a small station 20 miles east of Trinidad, and it is understood one man was killed and a score of others injured.

Details are lacking but it is believed spreading rails caused the wreck. A special train bearing physicians was sent from this city to the scene of the wreck at noon.

The injured will be taken to the Santa Fe hospital at La Junta, Colo. Two men and a woman probably fatally injured were brought to the hospital here. They are unconscious and their names are not known. They had been crushed between the rails.

Seven coaches left the train and the smoking car was smashed at splinters. The tracks will be blocked to at least twelve hours.

Meanwhile Santa Fe trains will be transferred over the Colorado and Southern road.

MAUD GILMAN POOR SLEUTH

Cousin of Mrs. Corey Comes to Grief While Enacting Role of Detective.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—While Mabelle Gilman as Mrs. Corey is enjoying the luxuries of a millionaire's pavilion, her cousin, Maud Gilman, whose talents led her to sleuth work instead of vaudeville, is having a hard time in San Francisco as a detective. She has got herself as tangled up in the gum shoe business as the case upon which she is working.

As nearly as can be ascertained by the police from the result of Miss Gilman's work, Dr. Carl W. W. von Tiedemann of 136 Perry street, who was her patron and employer, saw her on the trail of Wade H. Foulkes at the end of a long feud between the two men. The doctor accused Foulkes of abducting Miss Constance Bower, a friend of the doctor's who had mysteriously disappeared.

That's why the doctor sent for Mrs. Maud Gilman, cousin of the steel magnate's wife and placed the task of running the alleged abductor and his bearing him to earth. But Maud found the running hard. She shadowed Foulkes for weeks and knew as much about his doings as William J. Burns knows about the supervisors. But she didn't land him. Foulkes found the job poor and was on the point of suing the doctor when he learned of his intention and got real vexed. That was last Saturday when the same time Foulkes found out he was being shadowed and got vexed too. Foulkes made the additional discovery that it was von Tiedemann who had set the feminine sleuth on him, and he learned the identity of his follower.

Following closely on these numerous discoveries which developed all the facts in the case except the whereabouts of Constance Bower, came threats from von Tiedemann against Foulkes, who had him arrested yesterday on a charge of threats against life and a suit, which Miss Maud Gilman is a party to. Foulkes threatened the doctor for slandering because of the things she said about her.

An additional suit is likely to follow, she says, for wages earned in trying to find Constance, who continued absence will be, Miss Gilman declared yesterday a matter for other sleuths than herself. If she ever gets the tangle of the doctor's remarks about her straightened out and all the pay she claims, Constance can remain in hiding until—well until Captain of Detectives Co by finds her, she said.

SHOT IN BACK WHILE FLEEING

Teamster Wounded During Altercation Supposed to be Due to Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—John Dillard, 41 years old, a teamster, was shot at the result of an altercation apparently between the old and the new employees of the United Railroads. Dillard was shot in the back while fleeing from a group of men who were chasing him. He was taken to the City and County Hospital at the point of death. The shot entered his back between the shoulder and lodged in the right lung, where it still remains and his vitality is so low that the physicians fear to probe for it.

At the car loan the men vehemently deny all knowledge of the affair and state that they are strictly friendly to business. When asked about one of their number, the name of Planigan, no one would name an acquaintance with an employee of that name. The police are attempting to locate him but so far no trace of him has been found.

Dillard's home is at 1212 Hampshire street.

CHARGED WITH $20,000 THEFT

Young Easterner Arrested for Embezzling Funds from His Partner.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Guns Powell Bowden, about 25 years old, was arrested last night on the corner of Page and Fillmore streets by Detectives Miller and McKeon on a warrant charging him with embezzling $10,000 from his partner, Edward E. Rouch of Detroit.

It is also said that Bowden is wanted by the Detroit police on another charge having obtained $10,000 from all the agencies from Homer S. Johnson, vice-president and secretary of the Penitentiary Board, for the purpose of securing his release from Detroit on April 15th last on a commutation of his bonds and accounts with a shortage of several thousand dollars.

His whereabouts could not be learned by the police, but it was reported that he had fled to Los Angeles and it is believed that he has been living in that town for some weeks. The local police have notified the Detroit authorities of the arrest.

SOCIETY GIRL THRASHES MAN FOR IGNORING WIFE
Spouse of Novelist Howard, Who Left Him on Bridal Tour, Declares She'll Sue for Divorce.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Mrs. George Brown Howard, who was parted from her husband on his bridal tour, reached town yesterday aboard the Ettruria, and immediately announced that she will sue for a divorce. She characterized the statements made concerning her by Howard on his arrival here from abroad last week as the "falsehoods of a coward."

The truth was, she said, that he had treated her so cruelly that she was compelled to leave him. He had slapped her face in public, she said, pinched and bruised her, told her to go out and earn her own living, and even threatened to shoot her and then kill himself. From a friend who became a confidant of Mrs. Howard on the journey hither from London it was also learned that there had been a lively altercation between Howard and Mrs. Florence Schenck, which almost sent Howard to a hospital and which is said to explain the writer's emphatic dislike for that woman. On his arrival here, she said, she learned that Mrs. Schenck was the chief cause of the separation for the reason that his wife persisted in fostering the society of Miss Schenck and the "horse and dog" with which he said the latter treasured even after he had asked his wife to drop Miss Schenck.

"The clash between Mr. Howard and Miss Schenck occurred shortly after he refused to pay his wife's doctor bills," said Mrs. Howard's friends.

"Miss Schenck learned of his action and vowed that she would take vengeance for the sake of the wife who was still ill. Accordingly she and Mrs. Mendelson, proprietress of the Fifth Cheltenham Hotel, to whom Mr. Howard was also said to owe money, went in search of the young writer. As soon as they found him and he saw how excited they were, he hurried them to his room at the Trocadero. At this Miss Schenck, who is now Mrs. C. H. Wilson, is reported to have said: "Yes, and we will have to pay for it. You always let others do the fighting. My husband has taken you to box parties, dinners and rides, for all of which you have made not the slightest return. And now not only do you shirk the expense of being a good fellow, but you do not even pay your wife's doctor bills. You deserve a good thrashing and I am going to give it to you."

Thereupon the young woman who had already made a name for herself by the way she can handle a horse-whip, then dismounted a Vanderbilt show team, leaped upon the novelist and shook him while he called wildly for help. When rescued finally by the attendants of the hotel he was in a "funt."

When Mrs. Howard was asked late tonight if Miss Schenck had made a personal attack upon her husband, she said: "Yes, it is true."

ALLEGED DAUGHTER SEEKS "SILENT" SMITH'S MILLIONS

New Orleans Woman to Sue for One-Third of Estate, Claiming to Be Child of Millionaire.

NEW YORK, June 17.—A claim for eight and one-third millions from the estate of the late James Henry (Silent) Smith, based upon an amazing story of a hidden chapter in the silent millionaire's life, is soon to be made in a New York court.

A New Orleans woman, Mrs. Simon DuReche, is the claimant. That she is a daughter of Smith, born to him and Ellen Gargen, after a romantic marriage in 1866, in Texas, is the ground upon which she is going to ask the law to give her one-third of his immense fortune.

She declares she has absolute proof that her father was none other than the elusive, enigmatical millionaire who died in Japan in last March. Her marriage license, a wedding certificate, a record of the daughter's christening and many letters and photographs which Mrs. DuReche's father sent her when he was in England, which he sent after leaving her, are in her possession.

PREPARE SUIT.
Three lawyers of prominence and high reputation have been retained in Mrs. DuReche's behalf. They are said to have progressed to the point where they have notified the Smith executors of the impending suit. Two are of the New Orleans bar—Charles F. Clayborn, great grandson of the first governor of Louisiana, and Paul L. Pourchey. The third is William T. Houston, Judge Houston now is making final preparations to institute Mrs. DuReche's suit. He probably will make his motion in Orange county, New York, where James Henry Smith's will was filed for probate.

No cloud comes over Silent Smith's memory because of his first marriage. If it proves there was one Ellen Gargen, the woman who is now declared to have claimed him as a husband long before Mrs. William Rhinebold Street entered his life, it is doubly clear that his last year in Japan was not a mistake.

The Reactionaries are booming Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania in earnest. Can you imagine a Republican national convention going into session over a man named Phillips?

SHOOTS WOMAN AT TONOPAH

Bullet Pierces Ear of Mrs. Irene Clark While on Her Way Home.

TONOPAH, Nev., June 17.—Tonopah has a mystery involving an alleged attempt at murder, with robbery as the motive. The victim is Mrs. Irene Clark, daughter of Judge Young, of Reno. The alleged assault was made on last Thursday night on Bryan avenue, within a stone's throw of the main street. Mrs. Clark states that she was returning home shortly after 9 o'clock when two shots were fired at her and she fell insensible on the roadside. When she recovered consciousness her gold comb and $20 were missing.

Mrs. Clark has a bullet hole through her right ear and an abrasion on her right cheek. She also has a contusion on her left breast. Not until yesterday afternoon did she consult a physician, and the police had no knowledge of the assault until late Saturday night. Chief of Police Malley has been working on the case but has no solution to offer.

Mrs. Clark came here about a week ago and engaged a handsomely furnished residence on Bryan avenue. Contrary to her usual custom she dined down town on Thursday night and left for her home about 9 o'clock alone. She was within a block of her house when the assault occurred. The same night she telegraphed to her sister in Reno and to her brother in Goldfield that she had been shot and robbed. They arrived here yesterday and are uncommunicative regarding the case. The sister is Mrs. Jones, wife of Charles Jones, former district attorney of Reno.

Strangely enough no one living in the neighborhood of the assault heard any shots or any disturbance.

Mrs. Clark is the wife of C. C. Clark, of Oakland, from whom she has been separated for some years. Her first husband was an operator named Black and lived in Reno. Both Mrs. Clark and her relatives have shrouded the case in as much secrecy as possible and the police are working quietly on the case in the hope of apprehending her assailant.

CZAR WITH ARMY CRUSHES MOVEMENT FOR FREEDOM

People, With Muzzled Press, Compelled to Submit, Even Radicals Fearing to Strike Against Government.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—The dissolution of parliament be permitted. The course of General Drachleffski, prefect of police, of St. Petersburg in prohibiting hostile criticism of the government was followed most universally by the governors throughout Russia, compelling the muzzling of the liberal press.

The Novos Vremya, which has aligned itself with the reactionists, attacks the new election law as a half-way measure affording the possibility that the revolutionary elements will again be able to enter parliament.

The close study of the new election law, which is a book of 80 pages of complicated phraseology, has somewhat dispelled the feeling of gloom in liberal circles. The idea is gaining ground that the government has failed in its intention and that there is a possibility there will be an oppositional majority in the third parliament as in the case of its predecessors. Even under the law it is thought the Constitutional Democrats will retain control of the city. The Constitutional Democrats also hope to return a considerable number of the sixty land owning deputies whom the government believed would be exclusively conservative.

UNWISE STEP.
According to the opinion of a foreign diplomat who is in close touch with the court, the government has done either too much or too little. It is his view that the fundamental laws of the empire have been violated by the government's action in altering the election law sufficiently to produce the desired result.

The prefect of Kiev issued orders that no demonstrations on the part of the revolutionaries be permitted. Premier Stolypin who has undertaken full responsibility before his country for a series of concessions of parliament upon the present basis of suffrage is said to be bitter and he is alleged to be the object of a strong reactionary intrigue.

The grant of seven parliamentary representatives to the Armenians and Tatars was decided upon at the last moment. The original plan was to disarm

AGAINST STRIKE.
The social revolutionists at a conference held last night declared against the proposed strike, and appointed a committee to draft an address to the psanitary, army and navy and the workmen.

Telegrams from practically every city in the empire announce that the news of the dissolution of parliament was received quietly and with almost an entire absence of demonstration. Even at Odessa and Kiev no disturbances occurred.

The reactionists or revolutionists would be allowed and that no action on the

RAISE PLANTS IN OLD MINES

Tremendous Crops of Mushrooms Produced in Dark, Abandoned Tunnels.

ADAMSDALE, Pa., June 17.—Abandoned coal mines have been shown to be admirable places for raising mushrooms and many persons are flocking into the business.

Since the tunnels are of an even temperature and not a ray of sunlight can penetrate the drifts, the mushrooms raised all the year around.

Care must be taken to keep the beds from getting too warm where fresh colonies are raised. One man who invested several thousand dollars in a plant last year cent because the gas killed off the spawn.

During the winter months when mushrooms are selling from $1 to $1.50 a pound big profits can be made. It is said in these abandoned workings have been utilized for the same purpose and they are too close to the surface to do well in winter.

Col. Hogel Found Dead in His Bed

OMAHA, Neb., June 17.—Colonel Alexander Hogel, the "Newsboy" friend, was found dead in bed in the Murray hotel this morning.

His death was a surprise, but this was abandoned owing to the reputation of Count Von Voentzsch Pushoff, who is now being held to save his political head.

The Holy Synod has a deed the imperial manifesto to be read in all the churches next Sunday.

The committee of the lower house of parliament, consisting of twenty-two members appointed to investigate the charges against the second deputy delegates, decided to make it possible. It came to the conclusion that the evidence was too weak to justify the suspension of any of the named deputies. Even the delegates like Prof. Kuzmin Kasyvitz, the Democratic politician, who favored the surrender of any of the prisoners against whom there was definite grounds for suspicion requested to this finding.

RIGHTS OF RAILROADS DEFINED BY U. S. JUDGE

They Shall Have Proper Returns on Investments, but They Must Be Fair to the Public.

KANSAS CITY, June 17.—Judge Smith McPherson of the U. S. District Court here today handed down an opinion growing out of the conflict between the Circuit Court at Kansas City and St. Louis, and the federal court here over the enforcement of the Missouri maximum freight rate and the two-cent passenger law.

Judge McPherson's opinion maintains jurisdiction to adjudicate the validity of the freight and passenger laws of Missouri including the amended freight law of 1907. Whether the temporary jurisdiction asked for by the Missouri railroads to restrain the state official from enforcing these statutes shall be issued and if issued, whether it shall enjoin the enforcement of either the passenger or the freight laws one or both, will, the court says, be considered a week or more hence.

Judge McPherson said that his present view is that the two-cent law should be put in force until it can be ascertained by actual experience whether two cents will be remunerative.

The decision was rendered in the case of the Wabash Railroad vs. Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general and other state officers, and seventeen other like cases.

"The real question here is, has this court jurisdiction over the passenger fare law of 1907 of the Missouri legislature declaring it unlawful to charge more than two cents per mile? A lesser question is whether the bills tendered for filing are supplemental bills to those filed in this court in the eighteen cases two years ago and now pending before Mr. Schofield, the master?"

RESPONSIBILITY.

"I fully appreciate the responsibility resting upon me and the consequences to follow from the orders now to be made. If mistaken the mistakes are mine, even though I have had but part of one day since the argument to reach the conclusions. Never was a case before me been argued with greater eloquence, logic and power than was done by counsel, both for the state officers and for the eighteen railroads. Every phase of the case direct and collateral, has been so illustrated that all possible questions are at the end of debate. What is the supplemental bill in equity? and wherein lies its importance? It is usually, it is usually there has been some change in the rights of the parties, which must be carried forward by a supplemental bill. One hundred and more years ago judges who had to decide to do or not to do, played the part of mental acrobats and seek to refine and distinguish and to discuss most gravely the difference between the two sides of a hair. As to original bills and amended bills, and supplemental bills, and bills of review and bills in the nature of bills of review.

The result was that a chancery case lasted for many years. More than fifty years ago the Supreme Court recognized the folly of much of this, and by a code of rules adopted the system of fact pleading and left the old chancery practice in force only when the rules adopted did not meet the situation that might arise, and by rule 57 defined a supplemental bill. But that is not important in my judgment. Whether this proceeding should be by original bill, or by supplemental bill is of small consequence. If by original bill the railroads have the right to file the same with notice, and the right to a restraining order without notice, if by supplemental bill the usual practice is to require notice, and in either case it is discretionary with the judge to allow a restraining order without notice until a hearing can be had on notices as to a temporary injunction. On Tuesday, the 11th instant, the complainants gave notice of filing these bills on Friday, the 14th instant. On Thursday they asked to file them. Solely out of courtesy to the attorney general who was not present, this was refused; but the court on its own motion issued the restraining order, to keep the matter in statu quo. At the time fixed for the hearing the matter was again delayed for a day, at the request of the attorney general, he being absent.

THE FACTS.

During the delay the bills were filed in the State courts. For this there is no criticism. But I have stated the facts, and the statement of facts shows that these cases, as to the laws of 1907, were pending and had been pending since Tuesday, the 11th instant. On these bills must be considered as filed as of that date. And whether defective as original bills is not material, because such defects can be corrected on demurrer or exceptions, or by the complainant before answer as of course. Nor is it material whether filed in the original case or separately docketed. If separately docketed it will at once, for trial purposes be consolidated with the old cases, pursuant to section 321 of the revised statutes. If the contention of the counsel for the State be technically correct it is without a substantial merit as to the rights of the parties.

FRUITVALE LADS CONFESS TO MANY VANDALISMS

Constable Trails Youths for Many Blocks Who Try Doors and Windows of Several Stores.

SAN FRANCISCO OFFICIALS MAY BE 'DELEADED' TODAY

Reform Mayor Is Scheduled to Take Office.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—District Attorney Langdon is in consultation today with the other members of the bribery-graft prosecution upon the municipal situation resultant of the conviction of Mayor Schmitz of extortion and his present confinement in the county jail.

The district attorney desires to take the course outlined in the Associated Press dispatches last week, and during the day may finally determine to do so.

This would mean the ousting of practically the entire administration and the appointment by the board of supervisors of a reform mayor who will fill the vacated offices with men in full harmony with the district attorney.

"The situation that confronts us," said Mr. Langdon today "is without precedent in the annals of American cities, so far as I am aware.

"Only one solution suggests itself, namely the arbitrary and peremptory ousting of the incumbent administration and the filling by appointment of all vacated offices.

"The proceeding is so radical as to be almost subversive of the Democratic form of government, and it ought not to be resorted to except to solve a very extraordinary situation.

"The question we must decide is: Does such a situation exist. A decision may be reached this afternoon."

SEES ROBBERS HOLD UP MAN

Peanut Peddler Is Victim of Highwaymen, Who Broke into Home.

According to the story told the police by Michael Fahak, a peanut peddler, residing at 733 Webster street, he was the victim of highwaymen and burglars last night. Fahak claims that while he was on his way home shortly after midnight, he was accosted by a man and a woman, who broke into his home and were struck on the head with a club or a pair of brass knuckles. Fahak was rendered senseless by the blow. The robber then rifled his pockets, taking $4 in cash. He had in his possession a judgment for $100, which he turned over to the robber. The robber then ran away with Fahak, making his escape.

John Silver, a negro, residing at 139 Fourth street, states that he witnessed the hold-up, when he was a block away from the highwaymen. He hurried to Fahak's assistance, but before his arrival the highwaymen had made his escape.

The burglar's victim was taken to the hospital, where he was held up. He then went to his home and found that a lock on the front door had been broken. The burglar had broken in and had taken a large sum of money in his home or in his person.

brown suit and attracted considerable attention. The local attorney, Mr. Cox, who has been the attorney of record for Orchard in this county, was relieved from further duty by Judge Wood this morning and with the consent of the prisoner Frank T. Wyman, a Boise attorney, was appointed to his place.

"I presume you desire a continuance of course?" said Judge Wood to the prisoner.

"Yes, sir," if it please your honor," replied Orchard, who until the formal appointment of Mr. Wyman was only a temporary appointment of the court. The date of Orchard's trial will be held until the cases against Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone at Boise are disposed of, Orchard being the principal accused in the case.

LOWER LEVEL OF MORALS IS MAINTENANCE OF VICE

Rev. Charles R. Brown in a Stinging Sermon Scores Roadhouses and Refers Bitterly to "The Criterion."

(By REV. CHARLES R. BROWN.)

It is probably inevitable, until human nature shall have attained to a higher moral level, that there should be a certain amount of vice in every large city. It is possible, however, to keep the institutions which pandor to vice off the main thoroughfares and to prevent their corrupting the minds of the boys and girls of decent people.

"It is possible to keep such places out of the homes of those of the wealthy or of the honest working people. It is simply execrable that a place with such a reputation as that of 'The Criterion' on East Fourteenth street, should intrude into that noble residential district, deprecating residence property and tending to lower the moral tone of the neighborhood by its disgraceful conduct.

"Our Board of Supervisors would do well to take the license of such a place, and insist that all such resorts shall at least be kept away from those who are the backbone of the city, the respectable people, have built and are maintaining their homes."

COMPANY SUES CONSTABLE IN GALA ATTIRE

Assessor Dalton Asserts That He Had Been Given No Notice of Claims.

The United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company today filed suit with the county clerk, asking for a judgment against County Assessor Henry P. Dalton for the sum of $485.50, which they allege is due for unpaid premiums upon his bonds.

The complaint alleges that the guaranty company issued bonds to Dalton in the sum of $20,000 as bondsmen for the newly elected assessor. The annual premium on these bonds, it is stated, was to be $2.43, but in none of the successive years has it been paid.

Further complaint is made that on June 21, 1902, the company issued bonds in the sum of $395.50, guaranteeing the payment of a judgment for $400 rendered against the assessor by the county of Alameda against Henry P. Dalton. On the agreement on this bond, it is alleged, was the payment of an annual premium of $4.00, two of such premiums being due without being paid.

On October 2, 1904, it is stated that another bond for $300 was issued in the case of another judgment by the county of Alameda against Henry P. Dalton. On the agreement on this bond, it is alleged, was the payment of an annual premium of $4.00, two of such premiums being due without being paid.

The guaranty company also alleges that the assessor failed to pay the premiums on the bonds for the years 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, A Somewhat Suggestive Contrast

THE INTENSE eagerness displayed to force Schmitz into actual confinement in the County Jail in advance of sentence and before he has had an opportunity to apply to a higher court for admission to bail pending appeal, is in marked contrast to the solicitude manifested for Abe Ruef. Mr. Langdon and Mr. Heney have gone to considerable pains to keep Ruef out of the County Jail. Instead of handing him over the Sheriff and commanding that official to do his duty under penalty of removal from office, as was done in the case of Schmitz, the court was asked to appoint a special guardian who would keep him from contact from prison walls and the companionship of ordinary criminals. While Schmitz has been compelled to go to jail, Ruef is being treated very much as a favored guest in a private house.

District Attorney Langdon says he feels sympathy for Schmitz, but the law requires all to be treated alike. Have Ruef and Schmitz been treated alike since their conviction? Ruef has pleaded guilty and has forfeited his right to appeal. Schmitz has been convicted but announces his intention to appeal. The same authority that protects Ruef from the humiliation of confinement in jail has employed all the means at its command to force Schmitz into prison captivity.

However guilty Schmitz may be, the severity displayed toward him as compared with the favoritism shown Ruef is bound to create a disagreeable impression. It is not disguised that the object of forcing Schmitz into actual duration in the County Jail is to allow the filthy boodler Gallagher to exercise the functions of mayor as proxy for the man behind. This sort of government may be deemed necessary if not desirable under existing circumstances, but justice will indeed be blind if she does not blink in dismay at Gallagher sitting in the high place of authority without fear of punishment for his crimes and Ruef playing the part of a star boarder at a cost of $50 a day to the taxpayers, while Schmitz languishes in jail.

Admitting that public exigency justifies snatching by questionable devices the official control of San Francisco from the Schmitz administration, why is so much favor shown baser scoundrels than Schmitz? If there was no alternative for going to jail for Schmitz, why was an alternative provided for Ruef? But mayhap consistency is not considered one of the attributes of justice. Ruef testified, as he stated, under promise of leniency and in the hope of complete immunity. Was it arranged to keep him out of jail so that even the smell of prison might not get on his garments?

College Athletics and Graduation.

Sixty-five students have been dropped at Stanford University during the past semester, and seventeen others have been placed on probation. This record does not include the law department which, it is asserted, is likely to add ten more to the list of collegian failures.

It is only a few days since D. D. Sales, the athletic manager of the student body, who was regarded as a brilliant student and a candidate for honors in the law school, was given the choice by the scholarship committee of the faculty of either retiring from the office he held or to drop out of college. He dropped out of college, and it is said that he contemplates entering Harvard law school in the fall. Sales has, however, been barred from graduation from Stanford by an over-attention to college athletics, which interfered to such an extent with his legitimate college work that he could not keep pace with his classmates and reach the college standard of excellence when it came to the examinations which determined the right of the student to his parchment.

Both of the big universities of this State have had to drop a long list of incompetents from the roll of students annually. The chief cause of failure has not been mental incapacity to learn that which the universities teach, but in many, if not in most cases, to an over-devotion to those more strenuous college sports which demand a large part of the student's time and draw on his physical and mental energy to the disadvantage of his intellectual training and the culture of his mind. Snedigar, the great fullback of the Berkeley football team and the pride of his fellow students during the last years of the toleration of the intercollegiate game by the faculties of California and Stanford universities, fell by the wayside when the examinations for class advancement approached, and dropped out of his class before the fatal day dawned which would expose his educational incompetency. It then developed that Snedigar had never entered college with the expectation of graduating, but simply to become a member of the intercollegiate football team. Doubtless there have been others who have done the same thing and experienced the same result.

These instances prove conclusively that college athletics as cultivated have a tendency to subordinate the true object of university education to another purpose entirely foreign to it, and that matters have reached a point where it is necessary to put down the brakes. A recent writer pointed out the fact that a considerable number of college graduates adopted baseball as their profession after graduation. College education on such men is wasted. The only purpose college athletics have in college life is to tone up the student's body and thus fit him all the better for the exercise of his mental faculties in his pursuit of that knowledge for which the university has been created for his benefit. It is evident from the numerous failures in examinations that college athletics are taking too prominent a part in college life and are negating in a large degree the object for which universities are organized and maintained. Whenever a university student evinces an excess of zeal for any kind of sport it should be suppressed or he should be dropped. The university is not the place for him.

An Ohio man has sent President Roosevelt a brindle pup by express. Wonder if his application for office was appended to the dog's collar.

The dog who writes anonymous letters containing libels he is too cowardly to publicly utter generally has a record too dirty to bear inspection. One of these vermin made Oakland his home some years ago, but was finally exposed and sent to jail, where he rightly belonged. He has imitators in the community, however, who will doubtless in time find their proper place in State's prison.

Joe Mulhatton must be on the road again. Otherwise we are unable to account for the publication of the following remarkable dispatch in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

"KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 9.—A large quantity of small, silver-colored fish, which closely resembled mountain trout, fell from the sky at Independence, a Kansas City suburb, this afternoon. Although a few of the fish fell in all parts of the town, the fall was heaviest over the public squares. So many of the fish fell there that the catch-basins were clogged, and the water backed up and covered the sidewalks. Nearly everybody in Independence who wished it had fish for dinner this evening. It is estimated that the total quantity of fish which fell was about two tons. They covered the whole square, and when carried by the running water to the catch-basins, piled up on the iron nettings to the depth of a foot. Some of the little fish were alive and swam around briskly, but the greater quantity of them had been killed by the fall."

This story lacks one thing to give it complete verisimilitude. The fish rain did not take place on Friday.

According to the Bureau the consumption of wheat in the United States per capita has risen from four bushels in 1901 to seven bushels in 1906. The record of the department shows a remarkable fluctuation in the consumption of wheat during the last ten years. In 1898 the consumption was 4.29 bushels per capita; in 1899, it was 6.09; in 1900, it was 4.74, but in 1901 it fell to 3.95. However, the method of ascertaining average consumption furnishes no criterion for telling how much the average person actually ate. The portion of the crop not exported is divided among the people at large, which of course does not tell us how much was fed to stock or used in brewing, distilling and manufacturing, or how much was exported in the form of flour.

THE TRIBUNE takes pride in the fullness, completeness and fairness of the reports it published of the Schmitz trial. In addition to a nearly verbatim report of the testimony, taken down by a special correspondent, THE TRIBUNE published the full Associated Press report and the personal impressions of a member of the editorial staff covering the salient features of the trial and the most important points in the testimony. Our readers were thus given an opportunity to see the proceedings through different eyes and from different points of view. No other journal gave its readers this opportunity or allowed what transpired to be witnessed from other than a single partisan point of observation. All during the memorable trial, THE TRIBUNE endeavored to be fair to all concerned and to throw all the light possible on the entire proceedings and the attendant circumstances.

$2,000,000 REQUESTED OF HELEN GOULD IN WEEK

Churches and Charities Ask Aid, Brides Seek Trousseau and One Person Wants Million for Colony.

NEW YORK, June 17.—According to a statement made public today, the requests for gifts sent to Miss Helen Gould aggregate nearly $2,000,000 a week. They range all the way from the asking for $15 for a set of false teeth to $1,000,000 to start a colony in Cuba.

Miss Gould gave an itemized list of a week's requests recently to Franz Kallenborne, the orchestra leader. A movement is on foot among the music-lovers of this city to make Kallenborne's orchestra music a permanent feature in New York. For this subscription from wealthy persons would be necessary. Miss Gould was one of those consulted. She encouraged Mr. Kallenborne, but incidentally cited the fact that this was not the only thing she was asked to encourage. Then she gave him the list.

In the week referred to Miss Gould received 231 requests for money outright. Out of those 199 left the amount to her good will and discretion. Miss Gould was asked in that week for $5,000 to help form an anti-saloon league in Idaho. She received 43 requests for aid for churches, 27 for educational institutions and 26 for libraries. More than 30 were for help for charitable institutions. Four persons, presumably young women, wanted Miss Gould to help them buy trousseaux. Eleven persons wanted pianos and 12 wanted Miss Gould to buy their inventions.

Following are some of the other wants: Bibles, bicycles, a farm and three cows, one invalid's chair, enough pillows to supply a regiment of soldiers, one set of teeth, five sewing machines and 15 railway tickets.

MOTHER STEALS BRIDE AND THRASHES HUSBAND

Girl Wife Hustled Out of State by Angry Parent Fifteen Minutes After Her Wedding.

REDDING, June 17.—Within a few minutes after Thomas V. Greer, of Ingot, married Miss Mary Riley in this city last evening he was thrown out of the house by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cloud, who took possession of the young wife and refused to give her up. Mrs. Cloud, who has married a second time, gave her consent Friday night to the engagement of her daughter and Greer, but advised them to wait a while before getting married. They took time by the forelock and got married yesterday evening, although the girl is aged only 15, according to the mother's statement. It was represented to the County Clerk that she was 18.

When the husband and wife returned home to receive their mother's congratulations, Greer was bounced out of the house and his wife was taken in. In spite of all he could do, Mrs. Cloud took her daughter and left on the night train for Tonopah, where Mr. Cloud lives and where an annulment of the marriage will be sought. Greer, who is a minor, aged 23, feels that he is playing in hard luck to lose his wife fifteen minutes after the wedding and be thrashed by his mother-in-law as well.

PHOEBE COUZINS ADMITS SUFFRAGE IS A FAILURE

Equal Rights Leader States Women Prohibitionists and Vote Seekers Are on Wrong Track.

CHICAGO, June 17.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from St. Louis, Mo., says: Phoebe W. Couzins, the first woman United States Marshal this country ever had, for many years one of the most ardent advocates of equal rights for women, and a prominent figure in the early days of the movement, declared last night that suffrage for her sex has been a failure. She expressed the belief that the country is not ready for women's votes, and will not be for some time to come.

In demanding prohibition for the District of Columbia, Miss Couzins said the women were again wrong. She said that prohibition does not necessarily prohibit, and that it would be absurd to establish such a law for the District of Columbia, where foreign diplomats, who are used to their beer and toddy, congregate.

ART OF KISSING SPREADS GREAT WHITE PLAGUE

Noted Scientist Advises Against Burning Kind Referred to by Bertha Clay—On Cheek and Neck Best.

CHICAGO, June 17.—No longer is it safe to kiss your girl good night. No longer is it commendable and prudent to kiss any one, or be kissed, if done on the mouth. If possible to slip one under the ear, or to insinuate it upon the cheek, well and good. All others are tabooed.

It has been brought before the attention of the National Conference of Charities and Correction that kissing is dangerous. That great white plague which is annually getting a firmer hold on the American public is due to a large extent to the art of osculation. Dr. S. A. Knopf, an eminent German scientist, who has been lecturing before the conference on the care of the health, is responsible for the drastic tirade. He bars them all—from the burning kind that Bertha Clay used to write about, even to the more common ones that are current on days and evenings in June.

A WHITE BEDROOM

Few women realize the possibilities from an artistic point of view of the common, cheap unbleached muslin, though most of us realize its durability.

The material is lovely in tone and takes on the most lovely and graceful lines when used as curtains. It is especially effective in a room where the woodwork is an ivory white.

A young girl has just finished doing over a room that had to be done within a given sum, and that a small one.

The chairs are of willow, which she painted an ivory white to match the woodwork.

Her walls she covered with a paper in the same tone, relieved by trailing pale pink roses, marking it off in panels.

But the crowning glory, says the New York Mail, was the curtains of unbleached muslin that hung in straight folds at the sides with a deep valance across the top.

The unusual feature of the curtains consisted of vine matching the Marquis of Normandy was governor of Victoria. At that time I was regarded as a very good amateur pianist, much in request for private parties, at which I always played, and on very rare occasions also sang. At one of these functions, given at Government house, I gave some songs between the pianoforte selections, and

HOW TO MANAGE YOUR HUSBAND

Advice for Brides and Young Girls

The coarse and vulgar way of managing a husband is by nagging. The woman who takes this method of gaining her own ends should be classed with wife beaters. Both are brutes, without pity or compunction, and deserve to share equally in popular execration.

The wife beater takes advantage of his superior physical strength to maul and maim his weak and defenceless wife. The nagging woman takes advantage of the fact that his own chivalry and common decency do not permit a gentleman to treat a mean wife as she deserves to be treated for torturing him with her tongue.

Indeed the nagger is crueler than the wife beater, since it is impossible to continually inflict corporeal chastisement, while a nagging woman's tongue is the nearest approach we have yet made to perpetual motion.

Nevertheless, truth compels one to admit that the name of the nagging woman is Mrs. Legton.

METHOD OF NAGGING.

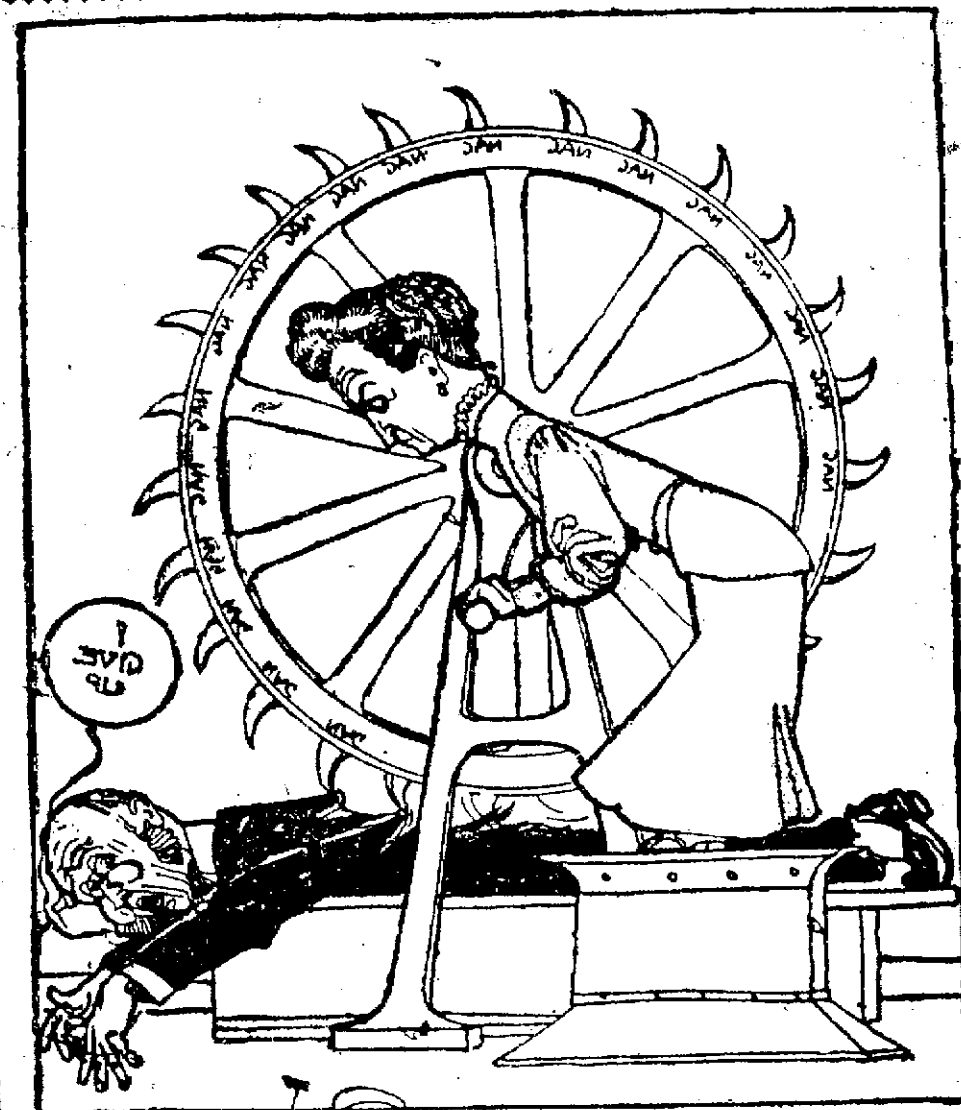

The nagging woman's method of managing a man is absolutely simple and primitive. It may be described in one phrase as keeping everlastingly at it. She makes her mind about what she wants, and she never rests, and she never lets her husband rest, until she gets it.

She has decided, say, that she wants to move into a finer house in a more fashionable part of the town, and she broaches the plan to her husband. He turns it down with the emphatic announcement that he can't afford it, that the house that they have is good enough for them, and that he's attached to the old home, and that it suits his taste and convenience.

This positive refusal does not in the least disconcert the nagger, for she knows her powers. She opens up her batteries of reproach, of abuse, of recrimination. Her husband gets up and lies down to an anvil chorus of which the house and its imperfections and inconveniences are the theme. Every meal is flavored with it. It forms the echo to the report of the stock market, and filters in between the details of the last divorce scandal, and forms a background to the latest utterance of the President as he reads his daily paper, until at last, to save himself from being driven stark crazy, the poor, persecuted man gives in, and goes and buys the house that his wife wants.

HIS HOME UNPLEASANT.

The man may have thought when he was married that a man's home is his castle, and that he may do as he pleases in his own home. He soon enough finds out his mistake if he has been unfortunate enough to marry a nagger. If she does not approve of smoking, he lights a cigar at his peril. It is the signal for turning on an unending flow of conversation about the waste of money that is spent on tobacco, the deadly effects of nicotine on the human system, the way it scents up curtains, and so on, and so on, until, for the sake of peace, the husband takes his offending cigar and himself off to the nearest saloon.

The nagging woman's method of managing a man is exceedingly simple and primitive. She keeps everlastingly at it.

Or it may be that the husband's only vice and recreation is the harmless habit of making some little collection. His stamps, his first editions, his old prints, or teapots may be to him an endless source of amusement and pleasure, but if Mrs. Nagger does not happen to share his taste on the subject the wedding day strikes the knell for his enjoyment in them. They have got to go, not because he is tired of them, or less interested in them, or finds less pure entertainment in them, but because his wife is never done lamenting the time and money that he spends upon them.

ALWAYS JAWING.

If she cannot have an automobile, or a diamond tiara, she attributes it at once to the fact that her husband has bought a new teapot, or picked up an old book in a second-hand shop, and the things she has to say on the subject last from bedtime until the wee small hours of the morning. If her band boxes get too many for her closet, or all her family come down at once upon her and overflow the spare rooms, it is the signal for a diatribe upon the awful amount of space that is given to the collection. Nor is this all, for the thing grows and grows as she discourses upon its iniquity, until you would think that there was no household misfortune from the water pipes bursting to the cook leaving or the children coming down with the mumps that wasn't attributable to the collection.

There is no way that a man can protect himself from a nagging wife. She has all times and seasons for her own, and he cannot choose but hear what she will say. Some misfortunes a man can combat, some he can flee, but there is no earthly way he can escape his wife's tongue.

NAGGING VERY EFFECTIVE.

To the woman who is determined to have her own way at any cost, nagging is to be recommended as the most effective known method of managing a husband. It can be relied upon to break the proudest spirit, and humble the haughtiest men, and turn an ordinary man into a snail and a slug, and send him to some other woman to tell his troubles and get comforted.

The nagging woman will always have her way at home, while her husband takes his away abroad, for the man who knows that he's got to stand for the continuous home lecture the minute he opens his front door is mighty apt to get the worth of it beforehand.

Oh yes, the nagging woman succeeds in managing a husband. She also frequently succeeds in getting a divorce.

Concerning Woven

Business of the gondoliers of Venice is being invaded by women and the men are organizing unions to drive them out.

Miss Ney, a well known sculptor of Texas, is a lineal descendant of Marshal Ney. True to her principles, she made the opening address at a meeting of the legislature to consider the amendment to grant full suffrage to women.

Mrs. Flora Annie Steel, the author, was asked recently by a friend for some information about herself. Mrs. Steel replied: "I have been married, I have borne children, I have two grandsons. I have therefore lived through the life allotted to woman and the only novelty before me is death."

A leading favorite in the literary circles of Washington is the widow of T. De Witt Talmage, the celebrated Brooklyn preacher. Since the death of her husband Mrs. Talmage has passed much of her time at the capital. She writes for magazines and newspapers, generally verses, but always under a nom de plume.

Mrs. Julia Goldzier, of Bayonne, N. J., is making strenuous efforts to establish the policewoman as a permanent American institution. She believes that women on the police forces of cities will be a good thing; that they can take care of children much better than men; that they can prevent boys smoking and keep women from entering saloons. She has a very poor opinion of man as a general adjunct of creation and in a pamphlet which she has written and circulated she calls him a tyrant and other things equally complimentary. She has designed a uniform for her policewomen and appeals to all municipalities to at least make the experiment of appointing women to the force.

SOUVENIR WEDDING RING

One of the big jeweler's firm on Fifth avenue is making a gold ring for J. G. Phelps Stokes which, when it is finished, will be a unique souvenir of his marriage to Rose Pastor. It will be a simple band of gold ornamented with two clasped hands, the unusual feature of which is that the hands are exact models in miniature of the right hands of Phelps Stokes and Mrs. Stokes.

This ring is the development of the sentimental idea that caused the famous couple to have a plaster cast taken of their clasped hands and made into a bronze paper weight. From this, by means of a machine, the two life-sized hands have been reduced accurately into such dimensions as would be suitable for the ring that Mr. Stokes is to wear.

SANFORD'S PLAYERS

AT THE MACDONOUGH

Walter Sanford's players will make their first change of hill tonight when they present the London Adelphi theater success, "My Jack." This drama scored a run of 250 nights when originally produced in London by Wilson Barrett, and duplicated this success in New York City at that time, enlisting the services of such well-known artists as Wilton Lackaye, W. J. Ferguson, Aug. Anderson, Isabelle Brown and Katherine Rogers. The action of the play takes place in England and the Sudan. The plot opens on the Cornwall coast of England. The second act takes place on board an English man of war. The third act on the sun scorched African desert and the fourth act takes place in the Sudan. There are nine complete scenes shown, all elaborate and beautiful, and painted by J. and J. Young, the leading scenic artists of New York City, specially for this production. The scene showing the African desert is said to be startling in its realism and the British encampment in the Sudan is likewise like life. Many interesting characters are shown, and the story is told with a happy blending of the pathetic and humorous, while the stirring dramatic situations are thrilling. Mr. Sanford will appear as "My Jack," Griffith Wray as "Ciro," Laura Hudson as "Dorothy" and Mead Lila in the strong dramatic role of the blind mother. "My Jack" will be given all this week, and special popular prices will prevail, ranging from 15 to 50 cents.

SOME OF OAKLAND'S NEEDS.

Editor TRIBUNE: Everybody must see Oakland on the good road to prosperity. Our streets and stores are crowded, building is going on, and our hearts are glad to take it all in. Plans are laid for better street cleaning, although I do not believe in Oakland's cleanliness as long as there exist no very strict laws for the individual, not to use the streets for dumping grounds of waste paper and rubbish. (Observe the groceries, green grocers—not to mention private homes—that ought to know better.)

No matter with what care the streets are cleaned—lo—a week later—no, a day later, greater Oakland again seems to the observer the most disorderly looking city of all cities. This is one fault of greater Oakland, and next to this, we have no city ambulances. I cannot believe it, but I am told we have none. If somebody is injured the police patrol takes the patient to the Receiving Hospital; men with not too tender hands help the sufferer in and out. I have seen this myself, have seen the fast driving wagon with its rubber tire-less wheels, dashing along with its suffering inmate.

Ever since I intended to look into this, and I ask, is it really true, has business, our greater Oakland, no ambulances to nurse that gods with the patient to tend with delicate hands to his needs at once? If so, our first cry must be to make up for the necessity of having city ambulances. Where are the women to help to call such all important institutions into life? Ambulances with all their belongings and comfort. To think of them, is the first step of having them.—One of your many subscribers.

COMMUTERS WIN TWO GAMES AND CLIMB IN RACE

VAN HALTREN'S MEN TRIM THE SEALS 5-3 AND 6-5

COMMUTERS TROUNCE THE SEALS TWICE IN ONE DAY

Locals Win the Morning Game 5 to 3 and Take the Afternoon Contest by a Score of 6 to 5.

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

Well! Well! Well! Two games in one day, and up from third place to second place. Guess that's poor. But that's just what our own little Oaklanders did yesterday. In the balmy morning air the Commuters walloped the Seals 5 to 3. And in the afternoon breeze in San Francisco the game blowed the Commuters' way 6 to 5.

All of which is going some, and is the reason why the Oakland fans and fanesses are wearing those 6 by 8 smiles around town today.

DERRICK BAD.

Some say that Umpire Derrick was in a measure responsible for the defeat of the Seals. The truth, however, is that the Oakland team played a far superior sort of baseball, and this accounts for their double victory.

In both of the games the Oakland team showed class. They lapped Mr. Williams, the morning until that young gent turned almost blue under the gills, and in the afternoon they lapped the elongated Mr. Henley some.

The morning contest was one hummer. For a short space of time it looked as though our lads might throw the game away, but when they saw how easy Long's boys were they changed their minds about it, and went in and walloped the bums out of the lads from the "broken" city.

Wright was there, like a duck egg in a thunder storm, and the Tonto-gent was never shirred or scrambled during his vigil. He had a nice assortment of tools, and pitched such a steady breeze game that he blew the ambition out of the gents from across the bay.

Our boys didn't waste much valuable time with Willie. They got busy with that gent in the third spasm, and a pass to Van Haltren, aided and abetted by healthy home-grown doubles by Heimuller and Eagan, netted the Commuters two runs.

In the fifth spasm, Truck got a life on Henley's error, took third on Street's single and scored a bit later when Mohler slapped one out to Van Haltren.

With two gone in the seventh the transbay lads started a desperate rally. Williams singled and Mohler slapped one to Jimmy Smith. The pride of Pinole let it roll through him and Williams scored. Then Hildebrand bounced one off of Eagan's shine and Mohler scored. Moriarty was an easy out to Biddle.

In the seventh Devereaux singled and went to approach Willie. Jimmy Smith doubled, scoring him, and the score up. It was pretty bad, but the Oaklanders went the air with their wild war whoops.

Matters remained thus until the eighth spasm. Moriarty hit the "Bugs" and the Seals would win the game.

Two gone in this spasm, Elias rapped out a peach of a single. Biddle arose to the occasion with a double hit, scoring Elias and Henley lifted a single to the same beyond double and putting the morning game abundant in pretty play. The fans were full of snap and ginger and sided around in a way that struck terror to the poor Seals. Truck Eagan played a rare good game at short and Heimuller hit a home run. Spencer's bat out of the air that looked as though it might break things up in the eighth.

Umpire Derrick seemed to have frozen eyes and hands in the morning. He was unable to distinguish between balls and strikes, and he gave Wright considerably the benefit of the deal. In the afternoon, Derrick as a rule is a good capable.

Bookmaker Charley Baird, who is reported to be $40,000 ahead of the game, will be one of those who will be in line at Seattle.

Richard Dwyer, who is at present officiating as starter at the Windsor meeting, holds a unique record. In 1904 he started the races at four tracks situated in three cities located in two States and a province, under the government of two countries, in four successive racing days. Friday, September 16, he was at Highland Park, Detroit, Michigan; Saturday, September 17, he officiated at Woodbine Park, Toronto, Ontario, Canada; Monday, September 19, he was in Chicago and did the starting at Hawthorne, and the next day he took up his duties at Harlem.

FIGHTERS ARE NOW BUSY LOT AROUND MARIN COUNTY

Squires Is Letting Up a Bit in His Work, but Britt and Nelson Are Both Hard at It.

By EDDIE SMITH.

Yesterday was a busy one for the fighters who are preparing for contests that are to come off next month, Tommy Burns being the only one who was not at work.

Burns is on his way from Los Angeles, and unless he stops off at Oakland he will be on the road and in the gymnasium at Harbin Springs today. Burns will need little watching in his training, for he is naturally a hard worker and it will be the duty of his trainers to keep him from working himself state. On his arrival back to the Springs he will have with him his regular sparring partners and his work will be of a faster and better class, Billy Woods and Jimmy Burns will from now on act as his human punching bags.

Bill Squires is in such fine condition already that his manager, Barney Reynolds, has ordered a lay-off from the regular gymnasium work and those who visited the Australian yesterday were slightly disappointed, as the big fellow did very little work.

Jimmy Britt, who is working at the same place as Squires, was in high spirits and entertained the spectators with a few fast rounds of boxing and gymnasium work.

Battling Nelson spent an hour on the road, but did no gymnasium work. He will begin his daily grind in the gym today.

While Kelly, the manager of Cyclone Thompson, is responsible for a story that Prof. Lewis, who is acting as Tommy Burns' chief trainer, disguised himself with a wig and a heavy moustache and visited the training camp of Bill Squires.

Kelly says that he approached the professor and told him that he was on to the make-up, but the old fox stoutly denied that he was the original Prof. Lewis of the Burns camp. Kelly is positive that the stout gentleman was Lewis and that the matter how hard he may deny the story it will always be his opinion that the wise (?) professor acted the part of a spy.

TOWN TALK WANTS TO BE UNDERSTOOD ON THE GRAFT

"When Reaction Sets in," It Says, "It Will Be Attended With Something in Nature of Storm."

(From Town Talk of Saturday, June 15.)

Editor Town Talk: Am I correct in assuming that you do not approve of the course of Mr. Francis Heney in causing the indictment of bribe-givers? I ask this question because there is some doubt in the minds of several of your constant readers as to your exact position. We know that you are against graft, and also that you condemn Mr. Heney to the union labor gallery and for compensating with Ruef and his despicable gang. In all that we heartily concur and also in your strictures on the men whose hostility to Calhoun has been in proportion to their servility to the vulgar and indecent Cornelius. We appreciate your prejudices against charlatanism as you call it, but we would like to know whether you have espoused the cause of bribe-givers and wish to be understood as holding that they are merely victims of extortion? A CONSTANT READER.

BY WAY OF ENLIGHTENMENT.

There is nothing that affords us greater pleasure than making Town Talk understood. This is a task that is especially gratifying when it is undertaken for the benefit of constant readers who concur in our criticisms and strictures. If we have been obscure in our sentiments respecting bribe-givers it is probably because we assumed that our readers were not in need of enlightenment. Bribe-giving is a crime and no decent citizen has any quarrel with the statute which makes it a felony. As for the men who have been indicted by Mr. Heney's amazingly just but not convinced that all are bribe-givers. Moreover we are not convinced that Mr. Heney is convinced they are bribe-givers. We shall not believe that Mr. Heney is convinced until he affirms his conviction in open court. We have great respect for Mr. Heney's judgment in some things, and it is our belief that it is his judgment that his jury has been a little too fructiferous in the matter of indictments. He should not be expected to admit as much at this time. He may never make such admission, and yet he cannot be uncandidous of the improbability of his ever being able to procure the conviction of some of the men who have been brought to the bar of justice. This is where we find our pang: in the thought that Mr. Heney is doomed to an inglorious fiasco. It is this thought, buttressed by a knowledge of many details with which the public are not familiar, that has impelled us to adverse criticism of the course of the stern and impetuous little attorney. We have reflected that more harm than good will ensue from his activities if it should finally appear that hoodling is by no means a hazardous occupation. Not only will harm result from his failure to send Ruef and his gang to the penitentiary and his inability to convict the men from whom they received their booty, but also from the great shock that may yet be given to the slumbering senses of men when they come to a comprehensive appreciation of all that has been done to consummate the great triumph over corruption.

HENEY'S GLORIOUS ACHIEVEMENTS.

Like the stone of Sisyphus, the more laboriously and with unnatural effort a resisting object has been rolled up to a high summit, with so much the more thundering violence does it return. When reaction sets in, as it probably will before long, it will be attended with something in the nature of a storm. We are gravely apprehensive of the outcome. Sanguine as we were for a while of the ability of Mr. Heney to give this city a splendid lesson in morals, it is in mournful mood that we view the symptoms of vitality as they disappear one by one. With pardonable egotism the cock-sure attorney, we fear, has miscalculated the limits of his genius for jallbirding. Lulled by the breeze of popular acclaim he has permitted himself to be wafted into the breakers. Impetuously is Heney's be-setting vice. It was that vice that exposed him to ridicule when he made his absurd boast one memorable night in the Mechanics' Pavilion. He made it, as we know, on the strength of a mere rumor, and when his bluff was called he fled to Washington. Fortuitous circumstances for which he is indebted to Mr. Spreckels have enabled him to redeem himself in a most felicitous manner. And as nothing succeeds like success the ovations to Mr. Heney have been like a continuous performance. His recent career has been that of a man of destiny. Lam-pooned two years ago for the vanity of his utterances, today he is a hero wearing his unblushing honors after the manner of a Napoleon whose course of empire was designed with true genius and executed with unerring accuracy. Far be it from Town Talk to belittle the luster of his achievements. We merely purpose analyzing them. His record speaks for itself. It matters not that we now know that his pronounced pronouncements promulgated at brief intervals after his appointment by District Attorney Langbein were all wind, and that the trapping of Loeb and Burns happened at a time to prevent the decay of public opinion. Success, however, is a double-edged sword.

anybody to attempt to detract from the merit of Mr. Heney's achievements up to date. He has been successful and that is sufficient for us to know. But luck is not eternal. It is possible that Mr. Heney may yet shrink from facing expectations that have been so highly raised by sundry indictments against numerous rich citizens. The published testimony taken before the grand jury reveals an amazing sterility of material upon which to base a demand for conviction. It is inconceivable that Mr. Heney can expect such a rope of sand as the case presents to remain intact under the rough handling of able lawyers.

RUEF'S TESTIMONY.

According to the daily press, which has been so serviceable to Mr. Heney the testimony taken before the grand jury was conclusive of the guilt of the indicted. But as a matter of fact that testimony is so weak that the prosecution would not have given it out for publication had it not been deemed important to communicate to the public in advance of the Schmitz trial the fact that Ruef had confessed to sharing certain booty with the Mayor. This was a triumph of Heney's tragedy. It was a masterly coup; one of the strokes of Mr. Heney's genius that commands admiration and gives some buoyancy to the lingering, drooping hope that he will yet be able to smile through the bars of a prison cell at the wicked victims of his ingenuity. It was only after reading Ruef's confession that we adequately appreciated this consummate ingenuity of Mr. Spreckels' lawyer. For it was then that we understood why the prosecution announced for publication two weeks ago that Ruef's testimony had not been reduced to writing, and that it was insufficient in the nature of a lemon, said the reporter—and that he would forfeit all claims to leniency unless he "came through" with more substantial matter. Indubitably it was not Mr. Heney, but what gentleman connected with the prosecution, if any, did inspire the publication of sentiments that savor of a willingness to put a premium on perjury and suggest the glad consent of a Superior Judge to serve as a red-rubber stamp in the pocket of an attorney. Those sentiments were printed, and as it is notorious that the prosecution has ably conducted most of its case through the newspapers it is reasonable to infer that this was not an extraordinary instance of a reporter's dream slipping into type. But let us examine the testimony of Abe Ruef in the gas company's case, and then let us ponder the action of Mr. Heney's grand jury. Speaking of the money received from the gas company, Ruef said:

"I received a fee for attorney's services of $1000 per month for two or three months prior to that, and then finding it, as I explained, necessary to request or suggest an additional fee, which I thought would be covered by the payment of $25,000, I suggested that to Mr. Drum. I wish to say also, in justice to him, I never told him it was to be paid to these men."

"Q.—That isn't the way of doing that kind of business, is it? A.—I don't know what the way of doing that kind of business is, except as far as it has concerned myself. I never told any living being that I was receiving or accepting money on any proposition to be given Supervisors, except Mr. Gallagher."

Of course, if we assume that nobody ever gave Ruef any money except for bribery purposes we shall not consider it important that he never told any man from whom he received money that it was to be used as a bribe. But is that a fair assumption? According to the prosecution's system of reasoning it is a fair assumption. But Mr. Heney's system of reasoning has not yet been grafted upon our system of jurisprudence. If during Ruef's career as boss of the Schmitz dispensation he received "fees" which he did not find it necessary to divide or which he made no pretense of dividing; if people had reason to suppose that Ruef would not divide anything that he could keep intact; if they had reason to suppose that in some matters he could exact favors from certain miserable officials who were indebted to him for their jobs—if all these things are plausible, may not a jury be found that will be reluctant to resolve all doubt in all cases against the citizens with whom Ruef did business? It is because we fear that a jury of this temper is not impossible of impeachment in this city that we have grave misgivings of Mr. Heney's ability to triumph over the forces of iniquity. These misgivings crowd upon us when we consider Ruef's testimony in the gas case. For Ruef said among other things:

"At the time of the fixing of the gas rates some of the Supervisors, as I was informed by Supervisor Gallagher, insisted upon fixing an extremely low rate, such a rate would have been ruinous to the business of the company, a rate which neither I nor anyone who had looked upon the question would have considered under any circumstances to be reasonable, proper or sustainable, and said they were determined absolutely to reduce those rates."

In the circumstances it may be argued that the average public service commission would have done the same thing. But the average public service commission would not have done the same thing.

LATE NEWS FROM WEST OAKLAND

Speculation Aroused Over Gould Road's Application for More Space.

WEST OAKLAND, June 17.—The filling-in with silt and debris scooped by the dredgers from the bed of Oakland harbor channel, has for the time being filled to the levee tops the big terminal tract of the Western Pacific east of Kirkham street, extended south and below First street. At present the tract is a mass of mud with a covering of yellowish water. Drainage and evaporation will soon leave only the sediment held in solution. When this has properly dried it is under- stood that Western Pacific plans to template a top-dressing of soil and broken rock which will probably be hauled from Niles Canyon. Perhaps some of the broken rock will be found nearer, in the foot-hills north of Mills Seminary.

There is much speculation as to when the Western Pacific will begin work on its proposed mole, and its extreme western terminus at the water-front than it originally thought necessary. It is also understood that original plans for mole and slips may have to be enlarged if the additional 600 feet of apron granted the Gould road by the city council.

This application is understood in some quarters to mean that the Western Pacific desires more space on the waterfront than it originally thought necessary. It is also understood that original plans for mole and slips may have to be enlarged if the additional 600 feet of apron granted the Gould road by the city council.

THE QUALITIES OF A PROFESSOR.

We hope that we have made clear our reasons for doubting that Mr. Heney is convinced that all the men who have been indicted at his instigation are bribe-givers. We also hope that it will not be assumed that we suspect Mr. Heney of maliciously procuring the indictment of anybody. Mr. Heney is merely performing the functions of a special prosecutor for which he will no doubt be handsomely rewarded. He is not to be influenced by his prejudices or his affections or his sentimental obligations. He is a stern patriot animated by love of country and hatred of graft. Cold and austere is Mr. Heney, divinely endowed with the peculiar qualities that make for success in the honorable office which he is superbly filling. It is an office in which many lawyers mindful of the importance of discouraging criminals are sometimes unconsciously persuaded to acts of oppression. It requires unusual strength of character and a judicial temperament to avoid, in the performance of the functions of this office, being carried too far by zeal for the vindication of justice. We believe that Mr. Heney was carried too far in the case of the Parkside victims of Ruef's extortion. Despite our aversion to bribery we confess a weak and unbecoming sympathy for those gentlemen, who, by the way, are not millionaires, and in whose behalf we may protest without exciting the suspicion of Mr. Heney. Indeed we believe that Mr. Heney on reflection is likely to reconsider the indictment of Mr. Brobeck, the attorney, who had no financial interest in the Parkside enterprise; who, unlike Mr. Heney's friend, Mr. Cope, had no interview with Mr. Ruef; who did nothing but draw an ordinance for his clients; whose only offense so far as we have been able to ascertain is his relationship through marriage with Gavin McNab, a gentleman who must be properly subdued before the Democratic machine can be taken out of his hands. It is unlikely that Mr. Brobeck, a young lawyer, whose standing at the bar, even now that he is under indictment, is not inferior to that of Mr. Heney; whose reputation for integrity in this community today is not inferior to that of a single juror who voted to put a blot on his character—it is unlikely, we say, that he or the men by whom he was employed and from whom money was extorted will be seriously prosecuted for bribery.

IS CLEVERLY BUNKOED BY TWO FELLOW-COUNTRYMEN

Philippo Talrico Complains to Police That He Gave Sharpers $170 for a Worthless Bundle.

WEST OAKLAND, June 17.—Signor Philippo Talrico, of 1321 Fourteenth street, who not long ago came to this State from Italy, the latest victim of a bunko game worked on him by two fellow-countrymen. Talrico asserts that he was induced to part with $170 Sunday, thinking he was getting $14,000 in bills and gold coin as security. Instead he was handed a roll of brown paper inclosing twenty iron washers. To the police Talrico told his experiences as follows, after first complaining that he had been beaten and robbed. Talrico said he was walking down Grove street with a large amount of money in his pocket with which he was going to purchase a little business. The jingling of the gold coins attracted the attention of a passer-by, who accosted him in Italian and struck up an acquaintance. The two walked along Seventh street for a while and had several drinks together.

When Talrico investigated his security one hour after he found that he had nothing but a roll of brown paper wrapped around twenty iron washers. He took his troubles to the police and Acting Captain Beck sent out Detectives Green and Quigley to look into the matter, but the bunko man was gone.

CRUSHED WHILE COUPLING CARS

Brakeman A. L. Merrill Horribly Mangled in Performance of His Duty.

WEST OAKLAND, June 17.—A. L. Merrill, a brakeman of the Santa Fe, living at 1214 Richmond street, was instantly killed Saturday night at midnight on the track near Hollis and Fortieth streets. The deceased was switching some freight cars and tried to couple two cars which met. It is supposed he either misjudged the distance between the bumpers in the darkness, or else his clothing became entangled in the pins. He was caught between the two cars and slowly crushed to death. His body was horribly mangled, his left hand being severed at the wrist and his chest completely flattened.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 17.—Steps are to be taken almost immediately by the New Haven railroad company for the merger with itself of the Foughkeepsie bridge system of railroads, which includes the Central New England and its subsidiary lines, now under the New Haven corporation's control. The Central New England Foughkeepsie system has, besides bridge work, a track mileage of 156 miles. It has about fifty-seven miles in New York, four miles in Massachusetts and the rest in Connecticut. For several years the New Haven company has operated the Foughkeepsie bridge system as a separate corporation under the controlling corporation's offices.

COAST TRANSPORTS TO HAVE WIRELESS

Communication was established on the coast when the vessel was 700 miles at sea. Similar systems will be put on the transports Logan, Sherman and Sheridan.

WILL DOUBLE TRACK ITS LINE

Southern Pacific's Road Across Sierras Needs Increase of Its Facilities.

WEST OAKLAND, June 17.—Division Superintendent W. S. Palmer of the Southern Pacific Company who last week went on a tour of inspection over the old Central Pacific line into the Sierras is authority for the statement that the Harriman road will be double tracked as soon as possible from Sparks to Roseville, crossing the Sierra Nevada mountains. After inspecting the route Superintendent Palmer stated that he was thoroughly satisfied that the road could be operated another season without making better arrangements for handling trains through the mountain passes. While at Reno Saturday Mr. Palmer said: "It is true that the Southern Pacific Company will soon begin the construction of another line over the Sierras parallel to the present line. I can say truthfully that the work will soon commence and that we will build the second line as rapidly as possible. The company at the present time has a great deal of trouble in running trains over the mountains on account of the increased traffic. On account of this increase in the number of trains, we have to sidetrack many trains for hours and thus traffic is delayed both ways and it is nearly impossible to run train, on schedule time."
